It is, besides, a mistake for the even

This journal never expected or desired the members of the delegation to follow its advice, only in so far as it might ommend itself to their good judgment. We wanted the members to be free, outside advice, for they are generally of dependence again, put into leading-strings by anybody.

The supreme "gall" of the evening one's lecture comes in when it attempts to saddle upon the TIMES the responsi bility for Judge Brunson's defeat. It s gall characteristic of the brass and ounning of a "smart politition" seeking to escape the responsibility and the odium of his own covert acts. What are the cold facts? The Los Angeles delegation, on the first ballot for judges, when the longterm places were filled, had voted solid for their own fellow-citizen, Judge Anon Brunson, thus showing the falsity of the allegation that any delegate alowed his "personal dislikes" to sway his action. When, after the recess, the time came to nominate for the shor term. Judge Brunson's name was agai placed squarely before the convention and with a good prospect of success, for the northern delegates-all outside of the "Moore combination"-very freely conceded the fitness, both personally and geographically, of the selection of Brunson for the last tests of the past week in Los judicial place to be filled. In the face of these facts, is it not monumental assurance, not to say superlative "gall," for the Express to altempt to shift the responsibility for Judge Brunson's defeat upon anybody save the unfaithful men who actually compassed it? Judge Brunson was alaughtered, not by his own friends, but by the friends of Moore. This is too notorious to be denied.

Change the Electric Lights To the Editor of the Times-SIE I am from the East, and hope to make expense), is the present "tower" system of electric lights. My business once a year, and most of the cities that have tried the tower system have aban-doned it for one that will swibg a single light low down, in the center of interdoned it for one that will swing a single light low down, in the center of intersecting streets, thus lighting all four of the avenues. Instead of having several lights on a tall mast, swing the same lights singly, as indicated, or in any manner rather on the tall poles.

The present system lights up the atmosphere one, two and three hundred feet in the air, and also the tops of tall houses in its immediate neighborhood; but we are not traveling through the atmosphere two or three hundred feet above—neither are we climbing around on the tops of tall buildings. What you want is to have the lights low down, and to have them scattered at regular inte vals. The best recommendation to town is to have it well lighted in the evenings, so that one can drive or walk around, and this is what you can't do in Los Angeles. Yours, etc.,

no well-directed or radical effort is made for the cure. The mere treating the nestrils will avail nothing in the cure of catarrh, no mat-ter what remedils are employed, since the disease is to a far greater extent, located in the passages behind the nose and leading from it to the throat, and so situated that washes injected up the nostrils cannot pos-sibly reach any considerable portion of the diseased parts.

In the treatment of catarrhal deafness, by directing our attention to the cause, we can remove the effect, and in no other way.

By appropriate direct treatment to the in-ternal ear, the hearing can in most cases be improved from the outset; but to render it radical, every vestige of the catarrhal inflam-mation of the surrounding parts must be re-moved.

of a shark, now a rotund sunfish, and again a strangely shaped jelly-fish. Before noon, however, a brisk breeze arose and bellied out the sails, and the Rambler plowed the brine homeward bound. It was a hard-looking crowd that debarked on the San Pedro wharf yesterday afternoon and reached Los Angeles by the last train. Miller's nose had that fine, red-purple hue which appertains to corned beef newly taken from the brine; while the rest of his face would have flattered a boiled craw-fish. Hazard's gills looked like a piece of red finnnel, and his face wore an expression of ap-peel. The rest were almost as roseate, and the jew-fish, over which Hazard exercised a paternal supervision, was the only respectable-looking member of the party.

The trip was a delichtful one in all re-
